Need something a little different? We "build" one-of-a-kind professional/academic/social group workshops, hosted in the store or off-site, where both relaxed and competitive building exercises provide participants with opportunities to strengthen their creative problem-solving, communication, collaboration and cooperation skills... but most importantly, have fun! Please refer to our workshop flyer and our website for more information, and reach out via email when you're ready to see how we can click with your organization!
