

BUYING POLICIES

Our prices offered, as well as the quantity purchased (which could be all to none) are based on many factors, including the condition or quantity of products brought in as well as how much stock we currently have.

Our bulk LEGO® offers are based on the volume and quality of the brick brought in. The more clean LEGO brand bricks, minifigs, and specialty pieces there are, the better the offer. Any non-LEGO brought in will devalue the lot.

You must be 18 or older to trade or sell any product. No cash or trade will occur unless accompanied by an adult.

We don't offer store credit or cash for any new sealed sets that are currently available on LEGO.com.

We can only give a quote for items that we can see. We are not able to give hypothetical quotes on items that we can't see.

Offers may change day to day as the store's inventory needs may change. If an offer is not taken the same day, the offer for the same item(s) may be different than from the initial offer.

Information collected during the buying process may be turned over to authorities in the case of a dispute or investigation.

Since trade evaluations can take some time to go through, we will close our trade counter 1 hour before store closing.

We will occasionally close our trade counter for special in-store events. Please check our social media for announcements or call to confirm availability.
